HISTORY

The Nature of Art opened its doors in February of 1980 in Kildaire Plaza, the first shopping center on Kildaire Farm Road in Cary, N.C. The custom and do-it-yourself framing options were very popular and owner, Judie Howard, made many lasting friendships with her customers.

Later, in Waverly Place Shopping Center, local artists' paintings, pottery, wood, glass and jewelry were welcomed in and made the store a favorite gallery as well as a frame shop. Art classes for teens and adults were a comfortable addition and flourished in the

Today, The Nature of Art operates from Judie's home workshop and studio where custom framing and art classes can be offered in a more relaxed and personal way. It also affords Judie the freedom to offer "Have frames, will travel", a mobile frame service with free consultation & delivery to the customer's home or office.

"Judie works from the soul, heart and mind with her framing. She Brings her own art to the process and it is not just a frame but a whole composition."

Petrina Green, mixed media artist

"Howard herself is much like the frames she has crafted for more than three decades...often eclectic, usually unassuming but always reliable.

Jane Page, writer for Cary News
